

I would like to make a donation in support of:

Spinal Cord Injury (SCI) Research

ICORD is an interdisciplinary SCI research centre in UBC's Faculty of Medicine. Your donation will support ICORD researchers to develop therapies to promote functional repair after SCI, validate and implement clinical and rehabilitation practices, and improve quality of life and community reintegration for people with SCI.

Healthy Living after SCI (PARC)

People with SCI are at greater risk of developing cardiovascular disease than able-bodied people due to the physical restrictions their condition places on their mobility. Getting regular exercise with SCI is further complicated by lack of access to specialized knowledge and resources. Your donation will help people with SCI access these resources.
